

DaF § Jura

Are you planning on studying German Law at a German university during the academic year 2014/15, for example as an Erasmus or LL.M. student?

Discover Berlin while also doing optimal preparation for your studies and your exams in Germany.

Summer School

“Introduction to German Law and German legal language”

6 daily lessons, 45 mins each (except weekends) will focus on the following main areas:

- German legal language
- Methodology of German Law and case-solving techniques (in preparation for the exams in Germany)
- Introduction to German private law: German Civil Code – General Part
- Introduction to German constitutional law: Law relating to state organisation

When: 25th August – 13th September 2014

What we offer:

- combined courses on both law and its language in the centre of Berlin with the authors of the textbook “The German Civil Code for Foreign Students” Prof. Dr. Lydia Scholz, Professor for German Law, and Susan Lippmann, Lecturer for German as a foreign language and an expert on German legal language
- course content to prepare you for your studies in Germany
- sessions in small groups, partly taught by both lecturers simultaneously so as to optimise your learning experience
- courses for almost all language levels (no beginners)
- individual coaching
- follow-up options on seminar topics during your studies in Germany via Skype, Google Hangout or/and email
- language of instruction: German
- programme of activities for Berlin and the surrounding area included
- assistance in finding accommodation and transport to/from the station/airport

Fees: on request

Early bird discount available (registration by 31st March 2014): 20 %

For any further information on and registration for the Summer School please visit www.dafjura.com  and contact info@dafjura.com 