Summit of Universities:

Call for Central European Summer School

Join us for the full program (online and offline) to maximise your exposure to global collaboration.

Students will have the possibility to gain a uniquely global perspective by studying both local and international business dynamics in the Central European area. All this comes in a global environment, while participants can experience the imperial architecture and lively cultural life that Budapest has to offer.

You will be taught by professionals with real-world business experience who will be focusing on the special issues of Central European countries' economy. Broaden your horizons and learn more about the most relevant economic issues of the region, as well as their business opportunities inside and outside the EU, especially in East Asia.

What online participants will experience?

- Working individually and in teams
- A modern business simulation game, which models real-life challenges of companies
- Strategic planning exercises to get hands-on knowledge about business decisions

What in-person participants will experience?
